MINERAL STATISTICS FROM NEARBY STASES

Mineral statistics compiled by the United States Department of Commerce just released for the states of Nevada, and New Mexico show a production of 175,157.79 fine ounces of gold, 5,481,574 fine ounces of silve and 158,876,883 pounds of copper for the state of Nevada with a total value of $31,033,776. This is an increase over the previous year.

New Mexico shows a gold productin of 32,912.41 fine ounces with a value of $680,360, an increase of $75,877 over the previous year. The silver production was 827,793 fine ounces, a decrease from the previous year.

SKIP JUMPS TRACK AT SIXTEEN TO ONE MINE

A skip jumping the track was the cause of the death of Roland Gardner in the shaft of the Sixteen to One property at Alleghany last week. The skip was loaded with drill steel and when the car left the track one of the drills pierced his groin causing injuries from which he soon passed away. Deceased was 21 years of age and had been a resident of Alleghany for the last six years. Suviving are the parents living in the east, and two brothers, John and Otto of Alleghany.

OLSEN REPORTS ORE AS RUNNING WELL VALUES

Martin E Olsen, manager of the Haverly mine at Pine Grove, Amado county, was in town Friday on business reported that a one foot vein of fine milling ore running $200 pe ton had been cut on the 170 level. Mr Olsen was formerly superintendent of the Yakima Mohawk interests here.

SCHOOL TAX REDUCED BY LOCAL TRUSTEES

Tax payers in the Nevada City elementary and high school district will pay 15 cents less taxes per hundred than they did last year which will be welcome news at this time when the tax collectors are abroad in the land to recieve funds for the administration of public affairs. This will make taxes lower for people in Nevada City this year, as the county rate was increased but 12 cents to offset decreased valuations.

Misses Dorothy and Miriam Sawyer have entered San Jose normal.

District Attorney and Mrs. W E. Wright, and guests, Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter, attended a meeting of the Nevada County Promotion Board at Tuckee Saturday.

Mr and Mrs. Arnold R Murchie ae home from a honeymoon spent in the bay region.

A party of dee hunters headed by that veteran sportsman, Bill Tamblyn, hied themselves into the wilds of upper Nevada county in quest of the elusive bucque on Saturday. Bill never fails to bring home the venison, is a favorite saying of the curbstoner.

George McHugh, an aged prospector of the Bridgeport section passed away last week.

NOBS TO BE GENERAL MANAGER OF NEWMONT

Well grounded rumor ras it that Fred W. Nobs, long connected with the Empire Interests, has been appointed general manager of the Newmont interests in this district succeeding George A. Kervin who has been transferred to other operations of the company. No better choice could have been made for the post.

The Nugget tried several weeks ago to secure confirmation of the appointment but Mr. Nobs with his customary shyness pleaded ignorance of the event and the story still lack the official flavor.

MINING PERSONALS

William Simpkins, west coast representative of the Newmont Mining company, came up from San Francisco and spent a few days herein the interests of the company.

EXTENSIVE RIVER MINES HOLDINGS TRANSFERRED ARE TO NEW COMPANY

Anotrer large transfer of mining property was placed for public record the past week when the River Mines Company, owner f one of the largest placer holdings in the west, transferred all its right, title and interest to the extensive properties on the San Juan Ridge to The Empire Mines. The properties have never been actively worked since the Sawyer decision of 1883 restricting placer operations on the Yuba watershed but it is estimated that there are many millions of gold lying in the gravels yet untouched. The famous Malakoff workings at North Bloomfield, the largest hydraulic mine in the world, are a part of the holdings.

By action of the holders of 99 per cent of the capital stock of the River Mines Company, attested by F. S. Markey, secretary and S. P Eastman, president, the transfer was formally executed. The papers were filed for record with County Recorder Sam J. Clark by McCutchen, Olney, Mannon & Greene, attorneys of San Francisco in a voluminous document.

The properties included in the transfer were as follows:

A number of lakes known as Well, The Pond, Jackson, McMurray, and Weaver. Also the right to appropriate the waters of said lakes, Jackson and Weaver creeks, Middle Yuba river, Bloody Run, South Fork of New York Ravine, Missouri Canyon or Ravine, Spring Creek and Rattlesnake Ravine.

COZY CORNER CHAT

CHICKENS COME HOME to roost, is a familiar old saying but has a paticular application in upper Nevada county at the present time. A great many people are wondering and talking as to the present gestures of the people of Yuba and Sutter counties making overtures to the residents of the San Juan Ridge over the water situation. The fact is that the wells are drying up down that way due to the loss of water in the Yuba river the last couple of years and the valley farmers are now fearful that the loss of water will set their wide spread farming operations back to a serious degree. They are fearful that the devastation of Inyo county by the diversion of water to supply Los Angeles may be repeated in their section, and the fear may be well grounded. With both the South and Middle Yuba rivers practically dry during the summtr months, the various irrigation districts in the lower foothills and valley between Wheatland and Oroville are fearful lest their water supply greatly diminish. The fact is that the continued antagonism of the farming interests toward mining operations on the Yuba watershed is primarily the cause of the present situation. Uu until the time that the diversion of water into Lake Spaulding was commenced the waters of the Yubas continued thei placid way down into the Marysville country and all was well so far as they were concerned. As long a the farmers could keep the miners from plying their trade they thought of nothing else in their leisure moments. Had they permitted the mines to continue to operate under the provisions of the Caminetti Act they might today have plenty of water down there. With the mines operating there would not have been water enough to have encouraged anyone to attempt the diversion of the Yuba's into another stream. Shoud the River Mines Cmpany holdings be permitted to operate again there would be a large amount of water put back into the Middle and South Yubas that would be a generous supply for the lower river users. It rather looks to us that the farmers will have to play ball with the miners yet on the water proposition. The politicians have about played out their string on keeping the miners under foot all these years. The unfortunate part is that what little water is left is going to be pitifully inadequate to allow mining to resume to any great degree and only those mines whih contain a large gold content per yard will pay to operate. The River Mines interests have large dedicated water rights in the Bowman area that if operations are permitted to resume, will greatly alleviate conditions on the San Juan Ridge as well as the lower country. The valley farmers can well afford to compromise if they want to continue in business with the use of irrigation water. AAW

OLD MONARCHS FOR NEW

By Adelaide Veale

"How shall we keep our school grounds clean? We want to exchange the tyrant Debris for the good king Order but how shall we do it?"

That is a question belonging to what is popularly known as the "one word variety", and its answer in this case is simply cooperation.

Recently the school grounds have been given a thorough cleaning. The shrubs that were planted last year are growing well, and altogether the present aspect of the grounds shows a vast improvement from its former state.

It is true, of course, that the large field in front of the building could be more prepossessing, but even so, it does not need the added decoration of bits of paper or occasional stray text-book. Cooperation of the pupils will easily prevent such a condition, as after all, the wastebasket is not the unknown quantity.

Old King Debris has held high carnival on the grounds for many a year. It is time for King Order to assume the throne and only his vassal Cooperation will serve to put him there.

WHY BEAUTIFY GROUNDS

By Katherine Parsons

What has beauty to do with education? This question is asked by those of the generation who went to school in the days of the little red brick school house. Often these unattractive buildings were in the midst of beautiful natural surroundings with a wooded background, and frequently a stream of water nearby. But now in the days of large cities and towns no natural background can be had. Thefefore beauty must be created.

That beauty does have a large part in the matter of education a quotation from Calvin Coolidge in his recent autobiography will not be amiss, "Not the least in the educational values of Amherst was its beautiful physical surroundings. While college buildings of the early nineties were not impressive, the town with its spacious common and fine elm trees was very attractive".

One of the foremost objects of education is to prepare your people to go out into the world. If this preparation is made in attractive surroundings, such environment aids in forming character. Most boys and girls are proud of their homes and gardens and are equally proud of their school if it is attractive. Cities and towns properly strive to have as many beautiful public parks and buildings as they can, and as the schools are part of the public property, they should be beautiful also. Beauty puts the student in a frame of mind ready for work while ugliness and unattractiveness make him indifferent.

The more this fact is realized the more likelihood there is of the grounds being made as attractive as the buildings.

NEW METHOD

Miss Mabel Main, one of the new teachers in the high school, has introduced a new method in her English and social science classes.

This idea is to give the student more of a tendency to carry out the principal of parlimentary law throughout school work and activities.

The English classes carry on this proceedure whenever oral themes are presented by students to the class. While in social science classes it is carried out on Fridays when current events are presented.

The following officers were elected for the various classes:

English II—Bill Tamblyn, president; Gladys Clark, secretary.

English III—Ruth Smith, president; Cecelia Genasci, secretary.

American History—Bernice Coughlin, president; and Carl Murchie, secretary.

The other two classes will be organized in the near future.

ORCHESTRA ORGANIZED

As the result of Mr Wilson's untiring efforts to stir up enthusiasm for music, an orchestra has been organized. Miss Agnes O'Niel, the music instructor at the grammar school is going to cooperate with Mr. C. E. Pedersen. So far fifteen students have indicated their intention of joining this orchestra. It is hoped that more will join and the orchestra will be a big success.

Mr and Mrs Roy Terrill were visiting in Sacramento.

CIVICS' CLUB REORGANIZED

The civics club was again re-organized by members of the freshman class in Community Civics, under the supervision of Mr. H E Kjorlie. The purpose of the re-rganization was to carry out and put to practice the rules of parliamentary proceedure.

The civics club has a project each year. Last year the club had two projects, one being the purchasing of a new flag which was presented to the Student Body. The second project was that of raising money for this year's illustrated current events. This year the project will be that of buying a silver shield which will be presented to the school. On this shield each year the name of the student who is adjudged the most representative student in our school will be engraved

This club holds its weekly meeting every Friday during the regular class period. The officers are elected every month. The officers for the first month are: President—Ruth Mezger; Vice-president — Thelma Davey; Secretary—Beth Curnow.

On Saturday afternoon, September 7, the high school boys' baseball team played the Memorial Park boys in a game of baseball, held at Memorial Park. The final score was

Memorial Park 7
Nevada City 3

Although tre game was in favor of the Grass Valley team, the enthusiasm of our boys was not lessened by the outcome.

The Senior Class held their "postponed Junior picnic", Admisson Day at Bridgeport.

The "picknickers' left about ten o'clock in the morning and had unch at Bridgeport, where they also enjoyed a fine swim About five o'clock they left and went by the way of French Corral to the South Fork of the Yuba River Bridge, where they had a "weenie roast" in around the campfire. They returned home a happy but tired party.

The members of the Faculty who attended the picnic were: Miss Mabel F Main, Mr. H. E. Kjorlie, Mr. B. F. Wilson, and Mr. C. E. Pedersen. Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Kjorlie also attended.

FRESHMAN CLASS PICNIC

The Freshmen went on a picnic Friday afternoon September 13, at Lake Vera They spent several enjoyable hours swimming and playing games.

A picnic supper was served, after which the students went home. In spite of it being the traditional "jinx day" the Freshmen had a very good time.

A world telephone exchange has been instituted in Seville, by the International Telephone and Telegraph Company. Visitors will be able to phone from the central office to any of more than 28,000,000 other telephones on three continents.

GIRLS' ASSOCIATION MEET

A Girls' Association meeting was held Thursday afternoon, September 12, at 3:20.

The purpose of the meeting was to plan a picnic which is to be held in the near future, at Lake Vera.

Another important issue brought up before the meeting was the appointment of a girls' rooms' committee which is to have charge of placing flowers in each room.

As there was no other business, the meeting adjourned in a short time.

There was an increase of 83,000,000 telephone calls in Great Britain in 1927 over the figures for 1926.

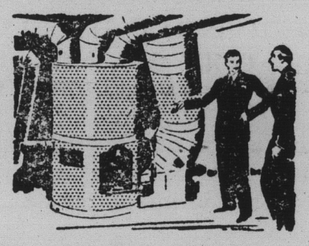
Enjoy automatic gas-fired heating



"So that's why the air is so warm and fresh!"

Have care-free, comfortable warmth by installing an automatic gas-fired heating system. It costs less. Works like any good system, except it burns gas fuel. Lasts for long years with little servicing. Modern ventilated firebox passes all products of combustion outdoors. Into your rooms flows heat as clean as the warmth from the sun.

There are many types of good gas-fired heating equipment. How can you know which to choose?

The experience of P G and E engineers and their knowledge of all types of gas-fired heating systems qualifies them to judge which is the most adaptable for each home. Their knowledge is for your benefit. For details, phone or call our office. Automatic heating installed for 10% down and terms.

YOU CAN BUY HAPPINESS AT THREE DOLLARS A WEEK

There are many people who say that money does not buy happiness, but it does give you a sort of comfortable feeling to know that there reposes a balance, however small, that will serve you in an amergency. It is a feeling that is quite closely related to happiness.

We sell what are known as Happiness Certificates. You pay $3.02 a week, or twice that much every two weeks, or $12.08 a month, and at the end of three years (less one week you will be given a check for $500. If it should happen that you must have the money you have saved before the expiration of three years, you are paid with regular bank interest.

It is better than a regular savings account, because the interest is larger. Almost anyone who is employed can buy one of these certificates without much sacrifice. It will bring you happiness if you are a normal human being.

BOWLING STARTS OFF WELL ON THE ALLEYS

That the pin spillers did not lose their batting eye during the summer vacation is seen in the first week's play on the Elk's alleys. The four teams entered appear to be quite evenly matched as there is but a difference of 125 pins between high and low team totals for the first round.

Team 4 losa total pins by but six pins Tuesday night in the first encounter, Team 1 annexing three points due to Mobley's stellar play, the pharmacist pulling down high individual total for the week with 507. There seemed to be a mixup in dates as but five of the ten scheduled players appeared at the alleys on opening night, but the play was close in all the games.

Teams 2 and 3 staged a tight match Wednesday night. The Durbins proved too much for the Curnows and took the first game by 90 pins. Horatio took a couple of reefs in his belt in the second game and turned in the first double century game of the season while his teammates backed him up nobly with a pin total of 808 to take the count with over a hundred pins to spare. He fell off considerably in the final game however. Nickless, anchor man on the Durbins, turned in a fine 173 game for his team. Hogan, rolling anchor for the Curnows, by getting nine pins could rave tied for total pins in the closer but he was able to get but eight and the two teams split the points with two each, wrich leaves the Ghidotti's on top by a one pin margin.

The totals follow:

Disuse of the Long "S"

The modern form of the letter "s" took the place of the old "f"-form of the letter very gradually. For many years the round "s" was used in all parts of words except the end, where the long "s" was retained. John Bell, a London publisher, was the first important publisher to discard the long "s" and substitute the round "s" in all words containing the letter. This he did in his edition of "The British Theater," which was published about 1775. The transition from one form of the letter to the other was almost simultaneous with the American Revolution. In 1786 Benjamin Franklin wrote: "The round 's' begins to be the mode, and in nice printing the long 's' is rejected entirely." After 1800 the old form of "s" seldom appeared.

Encouraging Trade

A bright-eyed little English lad saluted the occupants of a passing motor car so politely that they stopped and gave him sixpence.

"Do you salute all the strangers that pass?" the woman with the party inquired.

"No, ma'am, only motorists," the boy stammered, fingering his sixpence nervously. "Father says I must be polite to them because motor cars bring him trade."

The lady seemed disappointed.

"What is your fathers' trade, my little man? Does he repair motor cars?"

"No, ma'am," was the reply. "Father's an undertaker."—Exchange.

Phrases Long Stock of Writers and Orators

An alternative sauce for over-statement is hearty and spirited understatement. "Not arf," says the cockney, when wishing to say that a thing is an ample whole. "The time has been," says Macbeth, "that, when the brains were out, the man would die and there an end."

The British schoolboy has no terms of praise more emphatic than "pretty decent" unless it be "good enough." To spring in his audience a vivid sense of the extreme barrenness of the Sahara a British statesman describes it as "very light soil." To a woman brawling abuse from the door of an inn Charles Lamb imputes certain "murmurs not very indistinctly or ambiguously pronounced."

America does herself equal justice. She it was that first called the Atlantic "the herring pond," and "the drink," and Noah's flood "the big rain," and said that a rattlesnake's bite would "do you no good at all."

The Greeks had a recognized name for this ruse of saying much less than you mean in the hope that your hearer's mind will make good even more than the large percentage of discount which you have deducted from the truth—cunning fellow, casting your bread on the waters, under the form of a kind of rebate, in sure and certain faith that it will return to you buttered.—C. E. Montague in the Century Magazine.

Opportunity Seized by Men of Small Caliber

Let this fact sink into your mind—it is the non-commissioned officers of life who hurt, and against whom resentment is felt. The foremen and the petty overseers; the small men with near horizons and no vision beyond; the little go-betweens who have acquired the habit of tyranny—these form the habit of tyranny—these form the grit of the machinery of industry.

Sometimes they are for the bosses and make life hell for the men under them. Sometimes they stand for rebellion against the higher direction, but invariably their objective is power. They are ready to adopt the shibboleths of either side so long as they gain authority thereby.

If they learn the trick of oratory they become leaders on one side or the other, not because they possess the intrinsic qualities of leadership, but because they are pleasingly vocal.

Nor is this phenomenon peculiar to any class. Oratory has passed for statesmanship in every phase and every period of our political history, and many a man has risen to the governance of state with no other qualifications than his aptitude for epigrams and sonorous peroration.—Edgar Wallace in "People."

Nature Has Hung Out Traffic Sign for Bees

Highly specialized flowers often have lines on their petals to show insects the way to the glands forming their larder. In these nectar is stored—to be turned by bees into honey.

Honey guides are strongly marked on the upper pair of the nasturtium's five petals. They converge to show the way to the deep spur filled with what children call honey, when they bite the spur to taste the sweet stuff.

On the three lower petals, which have no honey guides, will be seen formidable barricades, blocking the entrance to the tube by the way of these petals. This remarkable fence of bristles stretches right across the faces of the lower petals.

They keep at bay such climbing insects as ants, which might try to steal the honey, but would be of no service to the flower.

"Standing Pat"

Pat is an adjective, probably from the French "pat," meaning that which suits the purpose of the occasion or meaning exactly suitable. The expression is used in poker to refer to a hand so satisfactory that its holder does not care to exercise the privilege of discarding and drawing cards. Hence the expression "stand pat." This came to mean opposition to a change of any kind, especially in United States politics. The phrase in this sense was first used to express the attitude of leaders of the Republican party by Senator Hanna in 1902.

Henpecked Men

When a man is henpecked, he generally indicates in his conversation that other men should be; he is like the fabled fox which, losing his tail in a trap, goes about declaring it is a new style other foxes should adopt, although actually keenly realizing the loss of his own tail. There is actually no more reason why a man should be too much ruled by women than that he should be too much ruled by agents or politicians.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

His Objection

It had been a tiring case for everybody concerned. The plaintiff and the defendant were both slow witted, and everything had had to be explained to them at least twice.

"Do I understand, my man," said the magistrate at one point, "that the defendant hurled invectives at you?"

The plaintiff scratched his head wildly. Then a look of understanding dawned in his eyes as he replied: "No, sir, to tell the truth, it was only bricks he threw at me; but what I complain about was the terrible way he swore at me when they missed!"

Beauty Made by Dust

Dust and sand contribute to the beauty of the skies. The infinitesimally short waves of sunlight pour down merely as white light but for the diminutive dust motes that get in the way and sift out the component colors, from violet to red. And even when the colors are brought into existence they would stream on through the atmosphere and into space if the all but invisible water droplets did not huddle together and hold them for the world to see.—National Geographic Society Bulletin.

FRENCH CORRAL ITEMS

FRENCH CORRAL, Sept. 14, (Special to The Nugget)— Well, wasn't it great!!— The San Juan Ridge Reunion Picnic We are still talking about it and yet have hardly come to a semicolon. An ideal day, an ideal spot, an ideal company, and an ideal stew! It exceeded all expectations. and we are so pleased that we intend to make these reunions an annual or probably a semi-anuual event. Such happiness it was to meet and greet old friends and talk over the "old days" One thing we overlooked, however, we did not have those in attendance register, but we can probably get names yet and place them in a register .We said Taber's ranch but the picnic was held in the exact spot where the late Mr and Mrs. J. D. Morris had lived for nearly forty years. The house was burned down several years ago. The stately pine and oak trees surrounding the spot make it just ideal for a picnic ground, and would you believe it one rose bush that certainly must have gone through the fire, and has for at least fifteen years been uncared for is there giving to the breeze the fragrance of its pretty white roses It seemed a memorial to the hands that had planted it over fifty years ao. Both Mr and Mrs. Morris were pioneers of the "50's". Well, back to that picnic. Oh it was such a happy time! Altho no program had been prepared, an impropmtu one was given Messrs. Noyes and Manwell of Yuba county spoke of the cause we have most at heart Water on the San Juan Ridge! and one of our own "boys" Bill Twambly, who was born and raised in North San Juan and is now a practicing attorney in San Francisco, was there to speak for us, and Mrs. F. Rundy of Sacramento, who in girlhood was Mary McNichols, and is a native of Moores Flat, and attended school and taught school on the San Juan Ridge read a very sweet poem, which she wrote on inspiration the night before, after reading in The Nugget the write up of our reunion. We would like to get the lines for publication and maybe Mrs Rundy will consent to this later. They were so appropriate and certainly appreciated by all Ridgites Well, we could go on talking about that reunion until we would take up all The Nugget space. We must not forget to state that a collection was taken up on the grounds, to which all responded generously, and the sum of $65.00 was realized in this way.

Well, let's see who has been coming and going this week:

Bill Moulton of Forest City visited relatives in French Corral Friday

Stanley Bice of San Juan was a Friday visitor.

Mrs Mary Mitchell and her niece, Mabel Hardebrook, came from Grass Valley Friday evening to be in attendance at the Reunion Picnic. Mrs Mitchell returned to Grass Valley Tuesday.

Admission Day was very quiet here. Floating of our flag from schoolhouse and Native Daughters hall being about the only observance

W. E Moulton made his usual business trip to Marysvillt Saturday.

Misses Frances and Louise Moulton were home to spend vacations with their parents.

Mrs. Annie Scheemer and son, Chester, were Sunday visitors.

Miss Millie Clerkin and Mrs. J. McCullough were Thursday visitors.

We regret to record the death of George McHugh of Bridgeport. Mr. McHugh was our neighbor for several years and we have only the kindest recollections of him. Altho born in Boston his childhood and boyhood days were spent in Nevada City where he attended school. In his early life he went to sea and had travelled all around the world. Ie was very interesting to hear him relate incidents of his sea life and of the countries he visited. So many of our good people are answering the final call.

The Buck Stew has been planned for October 6th.

VIGILANCE

IN THE long trek across the plains, ceaseless vigilance was the price of safety. Keen-eyed scouts, familiar with the trail, protected the emigrant trains on their march westward.

This same constant vigilance is expressed in the Bank of America. Through its branches, this bank is closely woven into the business life of a hundred California communities. A network of international connections links it with the world's commercial capitals. Every department of the bank is alert to protect the interests of customers—to safeguard California business progress.

At every Branch the result of this vigilance is manifest. Each customer of the Bank of America—from the Oregon line to the Mexican border—shares in its advantages.

On the basis of a service that meets every modern banking requirement, your account is invited.

CHRISTMAS GIVING
